

Evaluating a Physical Education Program

Evaluating a physical education program is important for teachers, administrators, and parents. By assessing the quality of your program, you can identify areas that are in need of improvement and make the necessary changes, as well as recognize and reward good practices.

In an effort to help parents and administrators at all levels determine if a physical education program meets nationally recognized standards for high quality, we have provided links to the National Association for Sport and Physical Education (NASPE) "Tools for Observing Quality Physical Education" webpage.

Click on the Titles Below to Link to NASPE's Documents

"Differences Between Physical Education and Physical Activity"

"School Physical Education Program Checklist"

"Physical Education Teacher Evaluation Tool"

"Suggested Job Interview Questions for Prospective P.E. Teachers"

"Appropriate Instructional Practices"

"Our Own Teacher/Lesson Evaluation Sheet"

Last updated May 30, 2011

Quality Physical Education Checklist

Below is an abbreviated and modified checklist for Quality Physical Education, Quality Fitness Testing, and Quality Physical Education Programs - Administrators originally created by NASPE. Click Here to Download this Checklist.

Last updated May 30, 2011

Responsible Educators Accountable for Learning

 Like 14

Top of Page